The Union as it Was.

Some people don't want the Union as was-a Union with Buchanan President, Cobb, Floyd & Co. Secretaries, and Washington city a nest of treason. The Republicans say the Democratic party are responsible for the Union under James Buchanan & Co., and, therefore, judging them by such antecedents, they are not fit to be intrusted with office and power in the Union. This is pretty well as a mere partisan retort. It would not be easy to find anything meaner than Buchanan and his Administration. "Well," said a looker-on at the Democratic Convention in Cincinnati, in 1856, to an editor who had been for anybody rather than Buchanan, from Douglas down to Old Nick, "what do you think of the nomination?" "The nominee will be elected," was the reply, "but he will be the last President the Democratic party will elect, perhaps, in our day. Buchanan will be sure to do something mean enough to ruin any party that supports him." About two-thirds of the party came very soon to the same conclusion; and the party itself, in the next race, had no more bitter opponents than James Buchanan and his nest of traitors. He once said, so it was charged, that if he "had a drop of Democratic blood in his veins he would let it out." We have no idea he would have kept his word; for he never was guilty of such an act in his lite that we know of. The drop was not there. No man ever sat in the Presidential Chair whose conduct was more antagonistic to the school of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson From such things, under the name of Democrats, as Buchanan & Co., may God deliver the country! We have understood that the old Pub. Func. approves Lincoln's proclamation. We might expect an indorsement from such a source. It would be an appropriate finale to the history of James Buchanan. After doing all the wrong he could on one side, he can only balance it by doing all the wrong he can on the other. He is as virtuous as the false witness who excused himself inasmuch as he had lied as much on one side as the other.

No party is infallible; it is liable to be betrayed, as the Democracy were by Buchanan and his cohorts.

We protest against calling his Adminis tration Democratic. Give the name to any other since this was a Government. The old Federalists never so outraged every principle of Democracy. The active, intelligent politician that supported Buchanas throughout, and knew what he was doing and what he did it for, we should not trust with office.

We don't hold, however, that the meanness of Buchanan is a license for all the meanness that men may meditate hereafter. His administration of the Union was not the Union as it was. Those who are for the Union as it was are not for such an administration of its affairs as we had under James Buchanan. It was the forerunner and the cause of great calamities. That does not, however, excuse these radicals. They are no better than Buchanan & Co. Both, indeed, are so bad that each is worse than the other.

The enthusiast who proclaimed that the telegraph annihilated time and space did not give half the wonders of that invention. It is about as prolific (of lies) as one of those insects which are said to deposit 9,728,236 eggs, on a surface the size of a five-cent piece. Early in the war the New York Tribune published two evening editions-it was said to correct in the second the falsehoods in the first. We never saw many of the corrections, but only a new generation of the same kind. From the beginning of the war the reckless course was productive of evil until its want of reliability has partially at least destroyed the injury it might effect. S. S. Prentiss once defended a client charged with slander, on the ground that the defendant was such a notorious liar that what he said was never believed, and therefore obtained an acquittal.

A similar plea will be necessary to save some of the telegraphic correspondents of the Eastern papers. Our neighbor of the Journal noted the fact that when a falsehood of particular magnitude was about to be told it was always headed, "It is rumored in official circles." Whether the telegrapher or the official circles are the fountain from which bursts the perennial tide of humbugging, we will not pretend to say The telegraphers have certainly sins enough of their own to answer for.

Latterly they have devoted them selves to propagating the absurdity that Mr. Lincoln's nigger proclamation is unanimously approved. If we were to believe them the unanimous approval of cannot long survive. There were two boilbread and meat, as a diet for man, wouldn't be a circumstance to the unanimity in favor of that ridiculous and ill-timed document. The absurdity of such an attempt to make public opinion, is shown by the fact that not even all of the Republican press approve it, and all the Democratic press condemn it. Even its defenders admit that it is ill-timed. No doubt of it, and it would be ill-timed at any time. As to its effect in the army, we can see it in the fact that an earnest appeal from General McClellan was necessary to soothe the discussion, if

The Times of the 9th is intormed, tele graphically, that Lincoln's proclamation has created great terror in the South. That correspondent is one of 'em. He is a bird. Not the little bird that tells secrets fo the ladies, but a bird of another feather -a black bird, we presume. How did he find out all this about the alarm in the South? He talks as if he had been there and only skedaddled in time to save himself from the black wrath of a hundred big men fled to Covington for safety and have buck niggers. The story is false on its since been sojourning there, many of them them with their families. All such surmises are bosh. The proclamation will exasperate the rebels, and that is about all. As to the means of obtaining THE REBELS DRIVEN BACK! information on the subject, it is far less to the correspondent than to any citizen of this State. A correspondent squats in the pestilential air of the Capital, inhales the foul breath of some fanatical Republican, who speaks the wish of his heart, and forthwith

he spews it out as a notable fact. If it were true-if, in reality, the proclamation was leading to insurrections wherein innocent women and children were to be given over to the savagery and lust of a barbarous race, it is the loudest, strongest condemnation of the proclamation that has ever been made. It makes it damnable-without excuse or mitigation -the most horrible scheme that was ever conceived in a civilized or savage country. ously But it is not true. The proclamation will have no effect whatever, and that is the only mitigating circumstance connected with it. It was written for the benefit of a class of politicians whom it would have been better to have crushed, instead of encourage ing, and in effect is so much waste paper The telegrapher, in his zeal, has over-shot the mark. In his desire to make out a weakness in the enemy, he has asserted a horrible state of affiairs, inaugurated by the proclamation, that would make its author merit eternal condemnation.

We want no more such surmises. Le telegraphers confine themselves to the actual news of the day, and they will have enough

The aggressive policy of the Confeds is very unpromising in Kentucky just now, even more so than it was in Maryland some weeks ago. They came to liberate Kentuckians. They had no selfish end of their own to accomplish. They came hundreds of miles, at vast expense of men and means, for our benefit. They, no doubt, think it ungenerous not to ac cept the freedom they are ready to peddle out to us for our good. They steal our horses, cattle and goods of all sorts, tear up our railroads and burn our bridges for our benefit. They even condescend to inaugurate a Governor, lest we should have made a mistake in the one we had. After all their kindness, to run away and leave us! Who would have thought it!

General McClellan exhorts his army not to canvass the policy of the Adminis tration. It is a very natural precaution; but how can it be expected that men, who give their time and means, and risk their lives through long campaigns of hardship and suffering, will not consider the policy of the stay at home brigades? In spite of all admonitions, the army will think.

From the beginning we have had no hesitation in saying what we considered just floor by the hair of my head, at the same and proper in regard to the monopoly of we speak in behalf of those of our public who may suffer from the avaricious desires of those who would prey upon the poor of our city.

Two million of bushels of coal are, to-day in the yards of our city, and an untold amount is upon the banks of the river above, ready to be floated down with the first rise of the river. That rise has not failed in twenty years to come by the middle of November. This two millions bushels, allowing that we have forty thousand families in Cincinnati, will supply those families to the last hour of the third month from the present day, and long ere that our river banks will be lined with barges loaded with coal, the statements of the Gazette to the contrary notwithstanding. We have nothing personal in this matter. We speak in behalf of that portion of our population who are not able, for want of a edium, to speak for themselves. In so doing we can show that less than one dozen persons control the entire coal trade of our city, and that, in the present instance, they are laboring against their own and the interest of their customers at large. In 1856 ity, though a natural indignation was ar we paid as high as fifty cents per bushel for coal to run our machinery. It was a sea-son of especial severity, and coal was scarce in the market. No such emergency and it can hardly fail to rebound upon the exists at present. There is an ample supply authors of it. We hear considerable about the lack of miners on account of the war; that this coal after the meeting was over and adjourn is notdug, &c.; but we have the opportunity ed, had Mr. Train been allowed to speak, all f knowing that enlistments for the war have been very limited in that direction, and that the "barges employed in the ponoon bridge," referred to by the Gazette, are but an atom among the hundreds which line the banks of the Ohio in the vicinity of the coal mines.

"Sufficient for the hour is the evil thereof," is an old saying, and at present, in view of the war, it is a true one. It needs not the exertions of extortionists to increase he calamity under which the masses labor Coal at twenty-five cents per bushel is be-yond the reach of thousands, who must have

Last winter the coal dealers of Washsystem which should proclaim that "coal was king," but they were brought to a sudden stand-still by a seizure, on the part of the military authorities, of every bushel of coal in the corporate limits of the capital. Even the staid old Intelligencer, the prototype, of the Evangelical Gazette of our city, did not dare or desire to raise a voice or pen a line in defense of the monopolists. They endeavored to prey upon the necessities of the army, of the Government and of the people; and as a military necessity, the evil which bid fair to become of the greatest importance was stopped. The speculators made a virtue of the rule to which they were bound to subscribe, and quietly obeyed those orders which it was not in the province of the civil authorities to issue.

We hope our coal dealers will think better in regard to any undue speculations in coal at the present crisis. Justice demands it,

There is every reason to believe that the President is entirely satisfied that the army of McClellan could not with any safety or promise of success have pursued the enemy immediately after the battle of Antietam. STONEWALL JACKSON REPORTED TO BE MARCHING TO ATTACK SIGEL.

A negro, escaping from the Second Virginia cavalry, lately serving his master there—a private in that regiment—reports the current belief among a portion of the rebel army that Jackson is marching down to attack Sigel at Carterville. This can hardly be true, as Jackson's force was pretty well used up in the battle of Antie-tam.

BALTIMORE SECESSIONISTS INVESTING IN REBEL STATE SECURITIES.

It is stated here in secession circles, that noneyed men of Baltimore have been investing largely in rebel State bonds, at fifteen cents on the dollar. The purchasers are evidently credulous in risking an investment which, if discovered, will surely consign them to a Federal prison.

General Order No. 160: The Commanding General extends his congratulations to the army under his com-mand, for the victories achieved by their bravery at the passes of the South Mountain, and upon the Antietam creek. The billiant conduct of Reno's and Hooker's corps, under Burnside, at Turner's Gap, and of Franklin's corps at Crampton pass, in which, in the face of an enemy strong in position and resisting with obstinacy, they carried the mountain and prepared the way for the advance of the army, won for them the admiration of their brethren in arms. In the memorable battle of Antietam we defeated a numerous and powerful army of the enemy in an action desperately fought and remarkable for its duration and for the destruction of life which attended it. The obstinate bravery of the troops of Hooker, Mansfield and Sumner, the dashing gallantry of those of Franklin, on the right, the steady valor of those of Burnside, on the left, and the vigorous support of Porter and Pleasanton, present a brilliant spectacle to our countrymen which will swell their hearts with pride and exultation. Fourteen guns, thirty-nine colors, 15,500 stand of arms, and nearly six thousand prisoners, taken from the enemy, are evidences of the completeness of our triumph. A grateful country will thank the noble army for the achievements which have rescued the loyal States of the East from the ravages of the invader, and have driven him from their borders. While rejoicing ing, have crowned our exertions, let us herish the memory of our brave comrades who have laid down their lives upon the battlefield, martyrs in their country's cause. Their names will be enshrined in the hearts of the people.

A smart skirmish ensued, in which the Colonel had one Lieutenant and two Sergeants wounded. He succeeded, how-ever, in completely routing the foe, and pursued him as far as Franklin, on the other side of the Blackwater. . The object of the reconnoissance was fully accomplished, and much valuable information was gained in regard to the strength and position of the rebel force in this quarter.

"There is not now a rebel soldier on this side of the Blackwater, and the probabili-ties are that they will not soon make another appearance. The loss of the end was not ascertained."

The Hilton Head correspondent of the Herald, dated the 8th, states that an expelition of gunboats, with a land force under Gen. Brannan, had captured a fort on St. John's bluff, St. John's river, below Jacksonville; also, an infantry and cavalry camp, at which a large number of arms were found on the 2d inst. THE GALLANT DEAD .- General James S Jackson and General William Terrill, who gave their lives to the country, on the battlefield, near Perryville, on Wednesday, were widely known and loved in Kentucky. In the field, in the camp, and in "the battle's van," they were the champions of our cause. Their cool courage and daring knew no bounds. Gen. Jackson resigned his seat in Congress in the early stage of the rebellion, and returning to Kentucky, immediately raised a regiment of cavalry for the war. By the arrival of the party bringing to the city the remains of Generals Jackson, Terrill, and Acting-General Webster, we learn that the battle of Wednesday was one of the fiercest on record. The forces under McCook and Rousseau were heavily out numbered, but bravely and gallantly withstood the shock of twice their numbers, till about five o'clock in the evening, when Wood's division came upon the field in run. With the power of an avalanche, and a great shout, this division made a charge when the rebel columns broke and retreated. Our forces pursued them, fighting until night intervened. When Thursday morning came, as we yesterday anticipated, the rebel army had disappeared, having fallen back about seven or eight miles from the battle-field. The field was covered with the wounded, the Latest from up the Frankfort Road.

Rebels Occupy Mercersburg and Chambersburg, Penn.

The Sioux Indians Ceasing their Hostilities.

The Latest from San Francisco.

[Special to the Louisville Democrat.] BENSON, Oct. 10.

The iron bridge over Dutch Fork, at North Benson, was completed to-night The trains can now run to Benson bridge, half mile west of Benson station. I com pleted one telegraph wire to Frankfort today. The Frankfort office is now open. There are afew rebels roaming round through the hills, but I have not seen any since last night. There were six of them trying to capture me and my men while putting up the telegraph wires, but finding I had a guard with me they skedaddled. I have a detachment of the 25th Michigan regiment with me, Captain Cross in command. The secesh citizens keep the rebels pretty well informed as to the movements around here. There was an encampment consisting of about forty rebels, at Buzzard Roost, flast night, but they have come to this side of the creek today, and are now somewhere south of here.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7, 3 P. M. Gov. Curtin has just received the follow-ing dispatch from Colonel McClure, at

Chambersburg: Mercersburg:

Mercersburg was occupied by Stewart's rebel cavalry to-day, and they are now advancing on Chambersburg. They took horses and all other property they wanted at Mercersburg, offering rebel script for it. They did no injury to individual persons that I have heard of. The rebel force is estimated at 3,000. They are certainly advancing on Chambersburg. They have cut the Bedford wire. They are reported as near St. Thomas, about seven miles from here. There is no doubt whatever of their being in Mercersburg. They will certainly give us a call. To night we had the rumor at four o'clock, but it was not credited. We can make no reistance, as it would exasperate and cause the wanton destruction of property and life.

Later.— Chambersburg, Pa. 8 p. m.— About fifteen men on houseback are in town, with carbines and a flagfof truce, they want to see the principal men of the town. They have a large force about one mile from town who will enter in an hour. Latest .- Col. McClure and Provost Mar shal Kinnell have just gone two miles from town, to meet the rebel commander. Nothing can be done except surrender. We look for the whole force in half an hour. Intelligence was received to day, in official quarters, that the Sioux Indians, in Minnesota, have ceased their hostilities, and military authorities were, at the latest accounts, severely punishing the most promi-nent of the guilty parties. The entire num-ber of warriors does not exceed eleven hundred. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9. The proposal, said to be urged at Washington, for raising 10,000 cavalry in California, is regarded here as impracticable, if they are to enter the service before the fall of 1863. They could not start across the Plains before April or May, arriving in Missouri about July or August, in a work down and half starved condition, and besides, ten thousand cavalry horses would cost, in California, twice their value in the Eastern States. WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. During the last quarter ending with September, the Post-office Department issued to postmasters 103,923,095 postagestamps, as is shown by the bill of the National Bank Note Company. These stamps represent the aggregate amount of 3,116,064, or more than 1,349,416 for the quarter ending the 30th of June. A large propor-tion of the past issue is yet in the hands of the postmasters unsold, though, no doubt stamps are in circulation as currency. many of the City Council as possible before ng. The river was about at a stand last evening, with some twenty inches of water in the canal. Yesterday was raw, cold, and exceedingly disagreeable, with a the day appointed to elect an Inspector, and present his various testimonials for slight fall of rain at dark. The indersation:

To the Board of City Council of the city of Louisville:
The undersigned citizens of the county of Trigg would respectfully state, that in consequence of the increased quantity of tobacco which will, in the future, likely be shipped from this section to your city for sale, we can but deem it just and right, that one of the inspectors of tobacco in your city should be selected from this section of the State. We take the liberty of respectfully recommending to your favorable consideration the claims of our fellow citizen Geo.

L. Torian, Esq., for the position of inspector. Mr. Torain has for many years been regarded as one of the best cultivators and managers of tobacco in the country. We regard him as possessing all the necessary qualifications for the position. Henderson, with a fine trip of passengers. The Ida May and Dunleith were both here yesterday from Cincinnati, with moderate trips of freight. Apart from
